

Everyone has a right to read.

That's why Kiwanis International and the Little Free Library nonprofit are teaming up to expand book access in communities around the world.

The partnership provides a path for Kiwanis clubs to get books into young readers' hands through Little Free Library book-sharing boxes.

"Kiwanis clubs support children. We say kids need Kiwanis to help them thrive, prosper and grow," said Pam Norman, chief philanthropy officer, Kiwanis Children's Fund. "The partnership with Little Free Library supports our education and literacy cause and helps get a book to every child, because reading opens a world of imagination and opportunity for them."

Kiwanis members receive a 10% discount on all Little Free Library models in a special online store and a 20% discount on Kiwanis-branded official charter signs in either English, French, or Spanish.

This charter sign is also available to members who have an existing book-sharing box.

"This is a great project for clubs," Norman said. "We believe our clubs will embrace this partnership, and I envision expanding global book access with a Little Free Library in every community where Kiwanis is active."

Get to Know Little Free Library

Little Free Library® (LFL) is a 501(c)(3) nonprofit organization that builds community, inspires readers, and expands book access for all through a global network of volunteer-led Little Free Library book-sharing boxes. There are more than 150,000 registered Little Free Libraries worldwide in all 50 states, 120 countries, and seven continents—even Antarctica! Through them, more than 300 million books have been shared.

92% of people say their neighborhood feels like a friendlier place because of a Little Free Library

Statistics are based on a survey of more than 2,500 Little Free Library stewards.

72% of volunteer stewards have met more neighbors because of their Little Free Library

LFL received the 2020 World Literacy Award as well as honors from the Library of Congress, National Book Foundation, and others. Our organization grants Little Free Libraries full of books to underserved communities through the Impact Library Program and champions diverse books through the Read in Color initiative. Impact Library Program

Books in the hands of children have a meaningful impact on improving literacy. And Little Free Libraries can provide book access where there is none. Each month, our Impact Library Program grants Little Free Libraries full of books to high-need areas in rural, urban, and Native communities across the United States and Canada.

“A Little Free Library is such a visible way to show neglected communities that they are worth every investment in the world,” said one recipient in Memphis, Tennessee.

The Impact Library Program is made possible by individual donors and partner organizations dedicated to spreading the joy and power of reading. Support this program at LittleFreeLibrary.org/impact.

Read in Color

Read in Color® is an initiative bringing diverse books to Little Free Library book-sharing boxes worldwide. Read in Color distributes thousands of books that amplify BIPOC, LGBTQ+, and other marginalized voices to help diversify bookshelves and build a more inclusive future.

Less than 25% of children's books depict non-white characters. We believe everyone should be able to see themselves in the pages of a book. We also know that books can be a window into experiences that are different from our own. When we Read in Color and share diverse books, understanding, empathy, and justice can grow. Learn more at LittleFreeLibrary.org/read-in-color.
